

Wouldn't it be great if we could have something to say other than the old "how are you?" to check in with how someone's doing. A password that lets the person know they can be real with you, that you have the time to hear what they have to say, that you won't judge them.

I hope "What's happening in your world?" could be that password. Why not try it out with your family, your colleagues, and your mates?
